I object to the development at 1 Grand Avenue, Camellia, based on the following grounds:

* This is the old James Hardie site and evidence shows that there are asbestos and other contaminants in the ground at the site. We all know asbestos is dangerous to humans and that is why it was banned and a cap put on the site. This site should not be disturbed given the proximity to residences, day care facilities, supermarkets, restaurants and workplaces. No one really knows how far the asbestos may travel and how many people may be affected if it is disturbed. Asbestos is a deadly substance. It is not worth the risk.

* The intersection at James Ruse Drive and Grand Ave is already a busy intersection, especially in peak hour . Increasing this with more trucks will cause a gridlock that will feed back onto Hassall St (a significant thoroughfare) into Harris Park and Parramatta. Not to mention more trucks coming and going during the night will disturb a relatively peaceful area.

* Odours from the waste site will affect the surrounding areas despite your best efforts to prevent this. There are 2 supermarkets and a number of restaurants and fast food establishments in close proximity to the waste site, no one wants to shop and eat with the smell of garbage near by, be it green waste or otherwise.

* The current strategic aim for Parramatta is to increase its capacity to be the second CBD of Sydney, building more office and retail sites. In the past few years more and more residential apartment buildings have been build in Harris Park and Rosehill to assist with this goal. I find putting a waste site near this expansion contrary to the Council's aims. It may increase employment in the area by a small amount but decrease people willing to live in the area as who would choose to live near a waste site? This will decrease the value of our properties.
