

The proposed changes to the development at the Shell Cove Boat Harbour are not in line with the nature and size of the Shellharbour area nor are they in line with the desire of the Shellharbour residents for what they want for the city they live in. The extent of building already approved is leaps and bounds ahead of the size of the area and will serve the area for many decades to come without the additional proposal. If Council had thought that this was what the people of Shellharbour wanted this proposal would have been announced prior to the election. The additional development proposed will detract from the coastal seaside nature of Shellharbour.
