- Predominantly site new buildings on areas, which have previously been developed.

UTS Kuring-Gai Campus. Max Dupain photography.

- Provide a compact footprint allowing for good quality open spaces.

University of Technology, Sydney, Kuring-gai Campus

15

State Significant Site Amendment / Concept Plan

design principles (cont'd)

UTS Kuring-Gai Campus, Max Dupain photography

- Build upon the original architectural concept of the internal street by achieving connectivity through a safe and legible street and pedestrian circulation network.

- Emphasise connectivity through the street and pedestrian circulation, the overall massing and configuration of the buildings and the public open space.
- Minimise new streets and hard landscaped areas.

University of Technology, Sydney, Kuring-gai Campus

State Significant Site Amendment / Concept Plan

planning, urban design, architecture, landscape architecture, interior design
t: (02) 8966 6000 f: (02) 8966 6222
e: sydney@dem.com.au