As a very long term resident of the area once again I am saddened and shocked at the ruthlessness of the Shore proposals for the Graythwaite site. There is something sad and wrong about the removal of those 85 trees and the marvellous old fig trees to build something to house another 500 boys. But leaving aside the emotional aspects this area is congested already with older Shore boys often taking up resident parking in their cars and having another 500 coming and going is going to make it worse.
