I am a resident and owner in Lord Street.

I do not have an issue with Shore School using the old Graythwaite site providing that the traffic and parking situation is improved to a level well beyond its current level of chaos.

Both prior to school and between 245pm and 315 pm Edward Street becomes a long "wagon train" of cars as moms and dads drop off and pick up their children at the Preparatory School. With their enormous cars, poorly driven to hog the entire two lanes, they block access to Lord Street and Short street for local residents. In addition, a number of senior students at the school, park all day on the streets in the area either periodically moving their car or using disability stickers on their cars, probably from older family members.

There should be a drop off area with access off of, and back to, Union Street for all prep student drop offs as the current system is not working on Edward Street. It is only going to get worse if the prep school expands, as it most surely will.
